Her success is a result of her dedication to excellence and her belief in the power of wellness to transform lives.

Is social media pushing unhealthy beauty standards?

The #pillsarecrazy challenge on TikTok is a reflection of the '90s toxic diet culture

The #pillsarecrazy challenge on TikTok is a reflection of the '90s toxic diet culture. It's a trend where users are encouraged to take pills to lose weight, often without medical supervision. This trend is a concerning sign of the influence of social media on beauty standards and the potential for health risks.

Dr. Arora emphasizes the importance of a balanced diet and regular exercise for maintaining a healthy weight. She warns against the dangers of extreme dieting and the use of pills, which can lead to serious health complications. Her message is clear: true beauty comes from within, and it's achieved through a holistic approach to wellness.
